INTRODUCTION

Criminal Justice Addiction Professionals fill a unique role among health, human services, and justice professionals. Such practitioners work in a variety of settings and utilize numerous treatment approaches. They recognize the need to assure quality care to consumers. Toward the end, ABCAC has designed a credential for criminal justice professionals who provide treatment services to adult and juvenile alcohol/drug offenders.

The demonstrated link between alcohol/drug abuse and criminal behavior has resulted in the development of this credentialing process. Individuals seeking this certification must be knowledgeable of both the criminal and substance abuse treatment systems.

ABCAC realizes that criminal justice treatment professionals are educated in a wide range of disciplines including criminal justice, addictions, social work, health, psychology, and other human service disciplines. The Criminal Justice Addictions Professional Certification is designed to assess an individual's ability to provide treatment and case management services to substance abuse offenders. It defines an Criminal Justice Professional (CCJP) role and function, thus distinguishing these individual's among other health and human service providers.

This certification process is designed to accommodate and evaluate those who are both trained experientially, as well as those who are academically trained. The certification process defines core knowledge and skill bases needed by all CCJPs regardless of their professional training, orientation or occupation. The purpose is to assure that quality addiction services are available to adult and juvenile substance abuse offenders.

CCJPs navigating within complex federal, state and county criminal justice systems develop unique competencies equipping individuals with a broader knowledge base to implement effective systemic treatment modalities.

Research indicates that substance abuse is a factor in most crimes and clearly shows that the provision of substance abuse treatment is effective in the reduction of criminal recidivism & substance abuse. Reductions of this nature present a significant cost benefit to society.

Certified Criminal Justice Professional (CCJP)

Code of Ethical Conduct

Principle 1: Non-Discrimination

The CCJP shall not discriminate against clients or professionals based on race, religion, age, gender, disability, national ancestry, sexual orientation or economic condition.

- a. The CCJP shall avoid bringing personal or professional issues into the counseling relationship. Through an awareness of the impact of stereotyping and discrimination, the CCJP guards the individual rights and personal dignity of clients.
- b. The CCJP shall be knowledgeable about disabling conditions, demonstrate empathy and personal emotional comfort in interactions with clients with disabilities, and make available physical, sensory and cognitive accommodations that allow clients with disabilities to receive services.

Principle 2: Responsibility

The CCJP shall espouse objectivity and integrity, and maintain the highest standards in the services the CCJP offers.

- a. The CCJP shall maintain respect for institutional policies and management functions of the agencies and institutions within which the services are being performed, but will take initiative toward improving such policies when it will better serve the interest of the client.
- b. The CCJP, as educator, has a primary obligation to help others acquire knowledge and skills in dealing with the disease of alcoholism and drug abuse.
- c. The CCJP, who supervises others, accepts the obligation to facilitate further professional development of these individuals by providing accurate and current information, timely evaluations and constructive consultation.
- d. The CCJP, who is aware of unethical conduct or of unprofessional modes of practice, shall report such inappropriate behavior to the appropriate authority.

Principle 3: Competence

The CCJP shall recognize that the profession is founded on national standards of competency, which promote the best interests of society, of the client, of the CCJP and of the profession as a whole. The CCJP shall recognize the need for ongoing education as a component of professional competency.

- a. The CCJP shall recognize boundaries and limitation of the CCJPs competencies and not offer services or use techniques outside of these professional competencies.
- b. The CCJP shall recognize the effect of impairment on professional performance and shall be willing to seek appropriate treatment for oneself or for a colleague. The CCJP shall support peer assistance programs in this respect

Principle 4: Legal and Moral Standards

The CCJP shall uphold the legal and accepted moral codes which pertain to professional conduct.

- a. The CCJP shall be fully cognizant of all federal laws and laws of the CCJPs respective state governing the practice of alcoholism and drug abuse counseling.
- b. The CCJP shall not claim either directly or by implication, professional qualifications/affiliations that the CCJP does not possess.
- c. The CCJP shall ensure that products or services associated with or provided by the CCJP by means of teaching, demonstration, publications or other types of media meet the ethical standards of this code.

Principle 5: Public Statements

The CCJP shall honestly respect the limits of present knowledge in public statements concerning alcoholism and drug abuse.

- a. The CCJP, in making statements to clients, other professionals, and the general public, shall state as fact only those matters which have been empirically validated as fact. All other opinions, speculations and conjecture concerning the nature of alcoholism and drug abuse, its natural history, its treatment or any other matters which touch on the subject of alcoholism and drug abuse shall be represented as less than scientifically validated.
- b. The CCJP shall acknowledge and accurately report the substantiation and support for statements made concerning the nature of alcoholism and drug abuse, its natural history, and its treatment. Such acknowledgments should extend to the source of the information and reliability of the method by which it was derived.

Principle 6: Publication Credit

The CCJP shall assign credit to all who have contributed to the published material and for the work upon which the publication is based.

- a. The CCJP shall recognize joint authorship and major contributions of a professional nature made by one or more persons to a common project. The author who has made the principal contribution to a publication must be identified as first author.
- b. The CCJP shall acknowledge in footnotes or in an introductory statement minor contributions of a professional nature, extensive clerical or similar assistance and other minor contributions.

The CCJP shall in no way violate the copyright of anyone by reproducing material in any form whatsoever, except in those ways which are allowed under the copyright laws. This involves direct violation of copyright as well as the passive assent to the violation of copyright by others.

Principle 7: Client Welfare

The CCJP shall promote the protection of the public health, safety and welfare and the best interest of the client as a primary guide in determining the conduct of all CCJPs.

- a. The CCJP shall disclose the CCJPs code of ethics, professional loyalties and responsibilities of all clients.
- b. The CCJP shall terminate a counseling or consulting relationship when it is reasonably clear to the CCJP that the client is not benefiting from the relationship.
- c. The CCJP shall hold the welfare of the client paramount when making any decisions or recommendations concerning referral, treatment procedures or termination of treatment.
- d. The CCJP shall not use or encourage a client's participation in any demonstration, research or other non-treatment activities when such participation would have potential harmful consequences -for the client or when the client is not fully informed . (Principle 9)
- e. The CCJP shall take care to provide services in an environment, which will ensure the privacy, and safety of the client at all times and ensures the appropriateness of service delivery.

Principle 8: Confidentiality

The CCJP working in the best interest of the client shall embrace, as a primary obligation, the duty of protecting client's rights under confidentiality and shall not disclose confidential information acquired in teaching, practice or investigation without appropriately executed consent.

- a. The CCJP shall provide the client his/her rights regarding confidentiality, in writing, as part of informing the client in any areas likely to affect the client's confidentiality. This includes the recording of the clinical interview, the use of material for insurance purposes, the use of material for training or observation by another party.
- b. The CCJP shall make appropriate provisions for the maintenance of confidentiality and the ultimate disposition of confidential records. The CCJP shall ensure that data obtained, including any form of electronic communication, are secured by the available security methodology. Data shall be limited to information that is necessary and appropriate to the services being provided and be accessible only to appropriate personnel.
- c. The CCJP shall adhere to all federal and state laws regarding confidentiality and the CCJPs responsibility to report clinical information in specific circumstances to the appropriate authorities.
- d. The CCJP shall discuss the information obtained in clinical, consulting or observational relationships only in the appropriate settings for professional purposes that are in the client's best interest. Written and oral reports must present only data germane and pursuant to the purpose of evaluation, diagnosis, progress, and compliance. Every effort shall be made to avoid undue invasion of privacy.
- e. The CCJP shall use clinical and other material in teaching and/or writing only when there is no identifying information used about the parties involved.

Principle 9: Client Relationships

It is the responsibility of the CCJP to safeguard the integrity of the counseling relationship and to ensure that -the client has reasonable access -to effective treatment. The CCJP shall provide the client and/or guardian with accurate and complete information regarding the extent of the potential professional relationship.

- a. The CCJP shall inform the client and obtain the client's agreement in areas likely to affect the client's participation including the recording of an interview, the use of interview material for training purposes, and/or observation of an interview by another person.
- b. The CCJP shall not engage in professional relationships or commitments that conflict with family members, friends, close associates, or others whose welfare might be jeopardized by such a dual relationship.
- c. The CCJP shall not exploit relationships with current or former clients for personal gain, including social or business relationships.
- d. The CCJP shall not under any circumstances engage in sexual behavior with current or former clients.
- e. The CCJP shall not accept as clients anyone with whom they have engaged in sexual behavior.

Principle 10: Inter-professional Relationships

The CCJP shall treat colleagues with respect, courtesy, fairness and good faith and shall afford the same to other professionals.

The CCJP shall refrain from offering professional services to a client in counseling with another professional except with the knowledge of the other professional or after the termination of the client's relationship with the other professional.

The CCJP shall cooperate with duly constituted professional ethics committees and promptly supply necessary information unless constrained by the demands of confidentiality.

The CCJP shall not in any way exploit a relationship with a supervisor, employee, student, research participant or volunteer.

Principle 11: Remuneration

The CCJP shall establish financial arrangements in professional practice in accord with the professional standards that safeguard the best interests of the client first, and then of the CCJP, the agency, and the profession.

- a. The CCJP shall inform the client of all financial policies. In circumstances where an agency dictates explicitly provisions with its staff for private consultations, clients shall be made fully aware of these policies.
- b. The CCJP shall consider the ability of a client to meet the financial cost in establishing rates for professional services.

- c. The CCJP shall not engage in fee splitting. The CCJP shall not send or receive any commission or rebate or any other form of remuneration for referral of clients for professional services.
- d. The CCJP, in the practice of counseling, shall not at any time use one's relationship with clients for personal gain or for the profit of an agency or any commercial enterprise of any kind.
- e. The CCJP shall not accept a private fee for professional work with a person who is entitled to such services through an institution or agency unless the client is informed of such services and still requests private services.

Principle 12: Societal Obligations

The CCJP shall to the best of his/her ability actively engage the public policy and legislative processes, educational institutions, and the general public to change public policy and Legislation to make possible opportunities and choice of service for all human beings of an ethnic or social background whose lives are impaired by alcoholism and drug abuse.
